not in session yesterday. The Assembly met in session yesterday. The Assembly met in session yesterday.

The most important items are the following: The Russian government declares in regard to Italian affairs...

In regard to the Anderson extradition case, Lord Palmerston has sent an order to the Canadian authorities...

Spain is represented as becoming very uneasy in regard to the secession movement.

Syria is again much disturbed. Parties of Druses are in arms, and some frightful scenes have occurred.

The steamship Bienville, Captain Balloch, from New Orleans and Havana, arrived here yesterday afternoon.

With a downward current of emigration last meeting yesterday to consider the annual report, which, however, was not ready for presentation.

In another column will be found a communication from a well-informed correspondent, on the effect of the measures proposed on the part of the Union.

Whatever doubt may have existed before as to the intention of the Government, it can no longer be denied that the Government has decided upon a course of action.

It will be of necessity a war to extinguish slavery? So that, after all, it now appears that the repudiation by republican leaders of John Brown's method of overthrowing slavery had a more than a nominal effect.

announced this purpose, through their representatives in Congress, and there can be no doubt that the result of the election of the 23d of February will be the passage of the other congressional measures in preparation.

The persistent refusal to make any compromise, to yield any concessions, to do anything, by word or deed, to conciliate the Southern States, is but the result of a conspiracy to wage a war of extermination against them.

Their radical revolutionary republicans desire to keep out the cotton States, and force out the border slave States, is further evinced by the language of the Tribune.

It is thus the settled determination of the party to have no negro slavery in the Union—to have it no longer half slave and half free.
